

Živko Bergant, PhD, Assistant Professor

Finished PhD in Business sciences at the University of Ljubljana (2002). Engaged on different responsibilities (as head of accounting, treasury manager, deputy general manager and senior partner in management consulting firm). Certified auditor (1993–2009), Expert on planning, financial function and information systems (recognized by Slovene Association of Economists), Expert on business finance, recognized by Slovenian Institute of Auditors, Certified Management Accountant, recognized by Institut for management accounting Ljubljana. Extensive experience in firm check-ups, in developing and restructuring plans and firms privatization strategies. Conducted projects in several companies to consolidate dangerous financial positions. Speaker at seminars at different educational institutions and lecturer at different universities. Published over 100 articles, numerous study materials and text books, several books (monographies) on accounting, finance and organization. Currently assistant professor at College for accounting, Ljubljana.