

Urša Golob, Associate Professor, PhD.

Associate Professor and Head of the Chair for Marketing Communication and Public Relations, Department of Communication, Faculty of Social Sciences, University of Ljubljana. She is actively involved in the development of CSR in Slovenia, and serves in jury boards for national and EU CSR awards. She is a member of organizing/professional committees for two conferences – International CSR Communication Conference, and IRDO International Conference on CSR. She is the editor of AMM – the Slovene Academic Journal for Marketing. Her main research interests are in various areas of CSR and her work is published in several international journals such as: Public Relations Review, European Journal of Marketing, Corporate Communications: An International Journal, Journal of Marketing Communications, Journal of Business Research, and Journal of Public Policy & Marketing. In 2013 (and again in 2014) she received the Outstanding Reviewer Award for Corporate Communication: An International Journal from Emerald, and the Award for Scientific Excellence awarded by the Faculty of Social Sciences for 2013.