

Maja Kohek

Maja Kohek is a social anthropologist, independent researcher, Onej – Association of Prekmurje Initiative. Graduated in cultural studies and anthropology in 2010 at the University of Primorska in Koper / Capodistria, Slovenia. Since 2011 she is working for several NGOs in Slovenia and Croatia in the field of drug use, human rights, ecology and culture. As an independent researcher she is interested in drug related harm reduction strategies, social support programmes and the development of evidence based drug policy. She is currently collaborating with the NGO Onej, Association of Prekmurje Initiative, that is developing educational programmes in the field of cannabis use and researching its medical potentials. On European and global level she is involved with the European Coalition for Just and Effective Drug Policy (ENCOD), Sensible Colorado and several individual experts in the field of medical and therapeutic use of psychedelics. In her work she intertwines several disciplines in order to tackle researched issues in a holistic manner. majakohek@gmail.com